

Christine Salmi

Christine Salmi is a Senior Counsel in Perkins Coie, LLP's Boise office, where she serves as head of the Boise office litigation group. She is a member of the firm's appellate and labor and employment practices and is Chair of the Boise office's Diversity Committee. She specializes in complex real estate litigation, insurance and commercial construction matters, as well as in employment litigation involving wage claims, claims of discrimination, wrongful termination and retaliation, and challenges to covenants not to compete. In her appellate practice, Christine has represented clients in cases involving products liability, the First Amendment, trademark infringement and environmental resource claims, as well as special education and general commercial contract disputes. Currently, Christine is the Ninth Circuit Appellate Lawyer Representative for the District of Idaho. She is also a co-founder and former chair of the Idaho State Bar's Appellate Practice Section and a co-editor/publisher of The Idaho Appellate Handbook (2015). Before joining Perkins Coie, Christine clerked for Justice Gerald Schroeder of the Idaho Supreme Court and U.S. Magistrate Judge Larry Boyle of the U.S. District Court for the District of Idaho. She has spent over a decade providing pro bono representation for court-appointed guardians ad litem for children in foster care and is a member of the Court Appointed Special Advocate Program's Attorney Advisory Council. She graduated magna cum laude from the University of Idaho College of Law, where she was Managing/Lead Articles Editor for the Idaho Law Review.